

KNOW YOUR

LEARNING MODALITIES

What is MOL or Mode of Learning?

MOL stands for Modes of Learning, which refers to the different ways or strategies students can receive instruction, especially during times when traditional face-to-face teaching is not possible, like during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Types of Modalities

Modular Distance Learning (MDL - Print)

- The most popular choice, used by 75% of students. This method involves using printed learning modules, making it accessible to those without internet or gadgets.

Blended Learning

- A mix of online learning, printed modules, and other resources. About 14.5% of students used this flexible approach.

Online Distance Learning (ODL)

- Around 7.6% of students accessed their lessons fully online, ideal for those with stable internet access.

Westhill
International School

What Mode of Learning (MOL) does Westhill use?

At Westhill, we use a Hybrid Mode of Learning, which includes both face-to-face classes and synchronous online sessions via Zoom.

In adherence with DepED Memo 046 s2024 and EO 029A-S-2024 of the City of Dasmariñas, in the event of a government-issued announcement for long-distance learning, Westhill will immediately transition to Zoom classes as scheduled.

Additionally, the school will strictly follow the signal number cancellation of classes and any official announcements regarding the suspension of classes for all levels—whether online or face-to-face.
